

SAAB

Job details

Saab Medav Technologies GmbH (SMT) is located in Bavaria / Germany, in the metropolitan area of Nuremberg. SMT is a company with a more than 30 years successful track record and experience, specialising in the application of signal processing, pattern recognition and information technology. SMT is a leading international supplier in the fields of security, intelligence, measurement and testing solutions and services. We have been a subsidiary of Saab AB since 2012.

To expand our project execution team in the field of radio monitoring solutions, we are looking for a

System Engineer (m/f)

to commence working for us as soon as possible.

Your Future Challenge:

- conceptual design of IT systems in accordance to customer specific requirements
- documentation of customer specific solutions
- assembly, installation, configuration and setting to work of complex IT systems
- installation and setting to work of our systems at customer facilities
- execution of acceptance tests internally or with customers
- execution of customer training

Your Profile:

- a degree in computer science or similar
- experience in the field of system engineering
- an in-depth knowledge in the field of radio technology, preferable radio amateur
- knowledge in the field of network technologies, especially routing and switching of IPv4/IPv6 networks
- knowledge in using Linux- (Ubuntu) and Windows based systems
- analytical working approach, creativity and implementation experience
- flexibility, willingness to travel and excellent communication skills
- strong communicative skills in English and German both verbally and in writing

We offer an attractive and performance-oriented remuneration. Furthermore the chances of working for an innovative company with a flat structure, quick decision-making and multiple opportunities for personal career development.

Please send your application per e-mail to Mr. Dirk Brückner, and do not hesitate to contact him, if you have questions.

Phone: +49 9131 583-345.

e-mail: dirk.bruckner@saabgroup.com